

CLICKETY CLACK

All aboard!! Get ready for a ride on the tracks with a bunch of yaks, ducks full of quacks and a driver named Zach! Wow.....that's a trip!

Authors: Rob and Amy Spence

Illustrator: Margaret Spengler

Ages: 3-5

Pages: 29

Themes: Rhyming; memory skills

This book is full of funny characters, lots of rhyming and an exciting trip on a train! If you or your child have never ridden on a train, you may have seen one traveling down the tracks when you were in your car or even passing through your town. Talk with them about how people sometimes travel from town to town on a train and sometimes the train is used for hauling things instead of trucks.

Now for the silly stuff! As you're reading this book with your child, it's pretty obvious that Driver Zach has his hands full with this roudy, fun-filled group of passengers. Each page gives you the opportunity to read words and phrases that rhyme and are repeated throughout the book. Be sure to give your child the chance to help you finish lines like.....clickety clack, clickety clack. You may even have them think of additional words that rhyme with Driver Zach finally has to ask his passengers to settle down and here's your chance to tell your little car-riders that's important that they behave in the car, too!