

FEELINGS

Little hands can read all about big feelings! This book of simple text and real photographs is a great addition to any child's library!

Author: Susan Canizares

Ages: 1-3

Pages: 12

Themes: Feelings; object identification

Sometimes we can tell how people are feeling by what they say, but there are other ways to know how people feel, too. As you go through this book with your child, talk about the different emotions/feelings that the children are showing on each page.

See if your child can make different faces that show different feelings. Have a mirror handy so that they can see what their expressions look like. You might want to remind your child that we can always tell how someone is feeling by their facial expressions. Words are important, too.
