This book is a little bit of a mystery as the readers will need to guess what creature is pecking, slithering and sliding across the pages. Your child can act out how each animal moves and by going through the glossary, you can talk about where each animal lives and what kind of weather they like best.

You can also talk about what animals live in your area, how they move and what kind of weather conditions they like best. If there's a farm or a zoo in your area, take a road trip and see what's "down on the farm" or "new at the zoo".
