Have you ever visited a farm? You can in this book and what an adventure you'll have with the red tractor!

Book published by Usborne Publishing – Farmyard Tales Board Books

Ages: 9 mo. and up

Pages: 10

Themes: Object identification; develop an imagination; learn about helping

Whether you live on a farm or not, Farmer Ted can take all of us for a ride on his red tractor, and what a ride it will be! When Farmer Ted takes off with his tractor, everyone waves good bye....have your child wave, too. It's fun for your child to participate with the characters on the pages. As the story develops, explain to your child that when the tractor goes into the water, it's going to take everyone's cooperation to get the tractor out of the pond. By talking about helping one another, this is introducing your child to how good it feels to be a good friend and being responsible.

On the very first page of the story, you're introduced to a little yellow duck that your child can search for on each page. The bright colors can be identified, too. It's like playing hide and seek on every page!
