The Magic Lunchbox

Summer vacation was almost over and school was starting soon. Mom bought me a new lunchbox. It was beautiful with hearts and stars all over it.

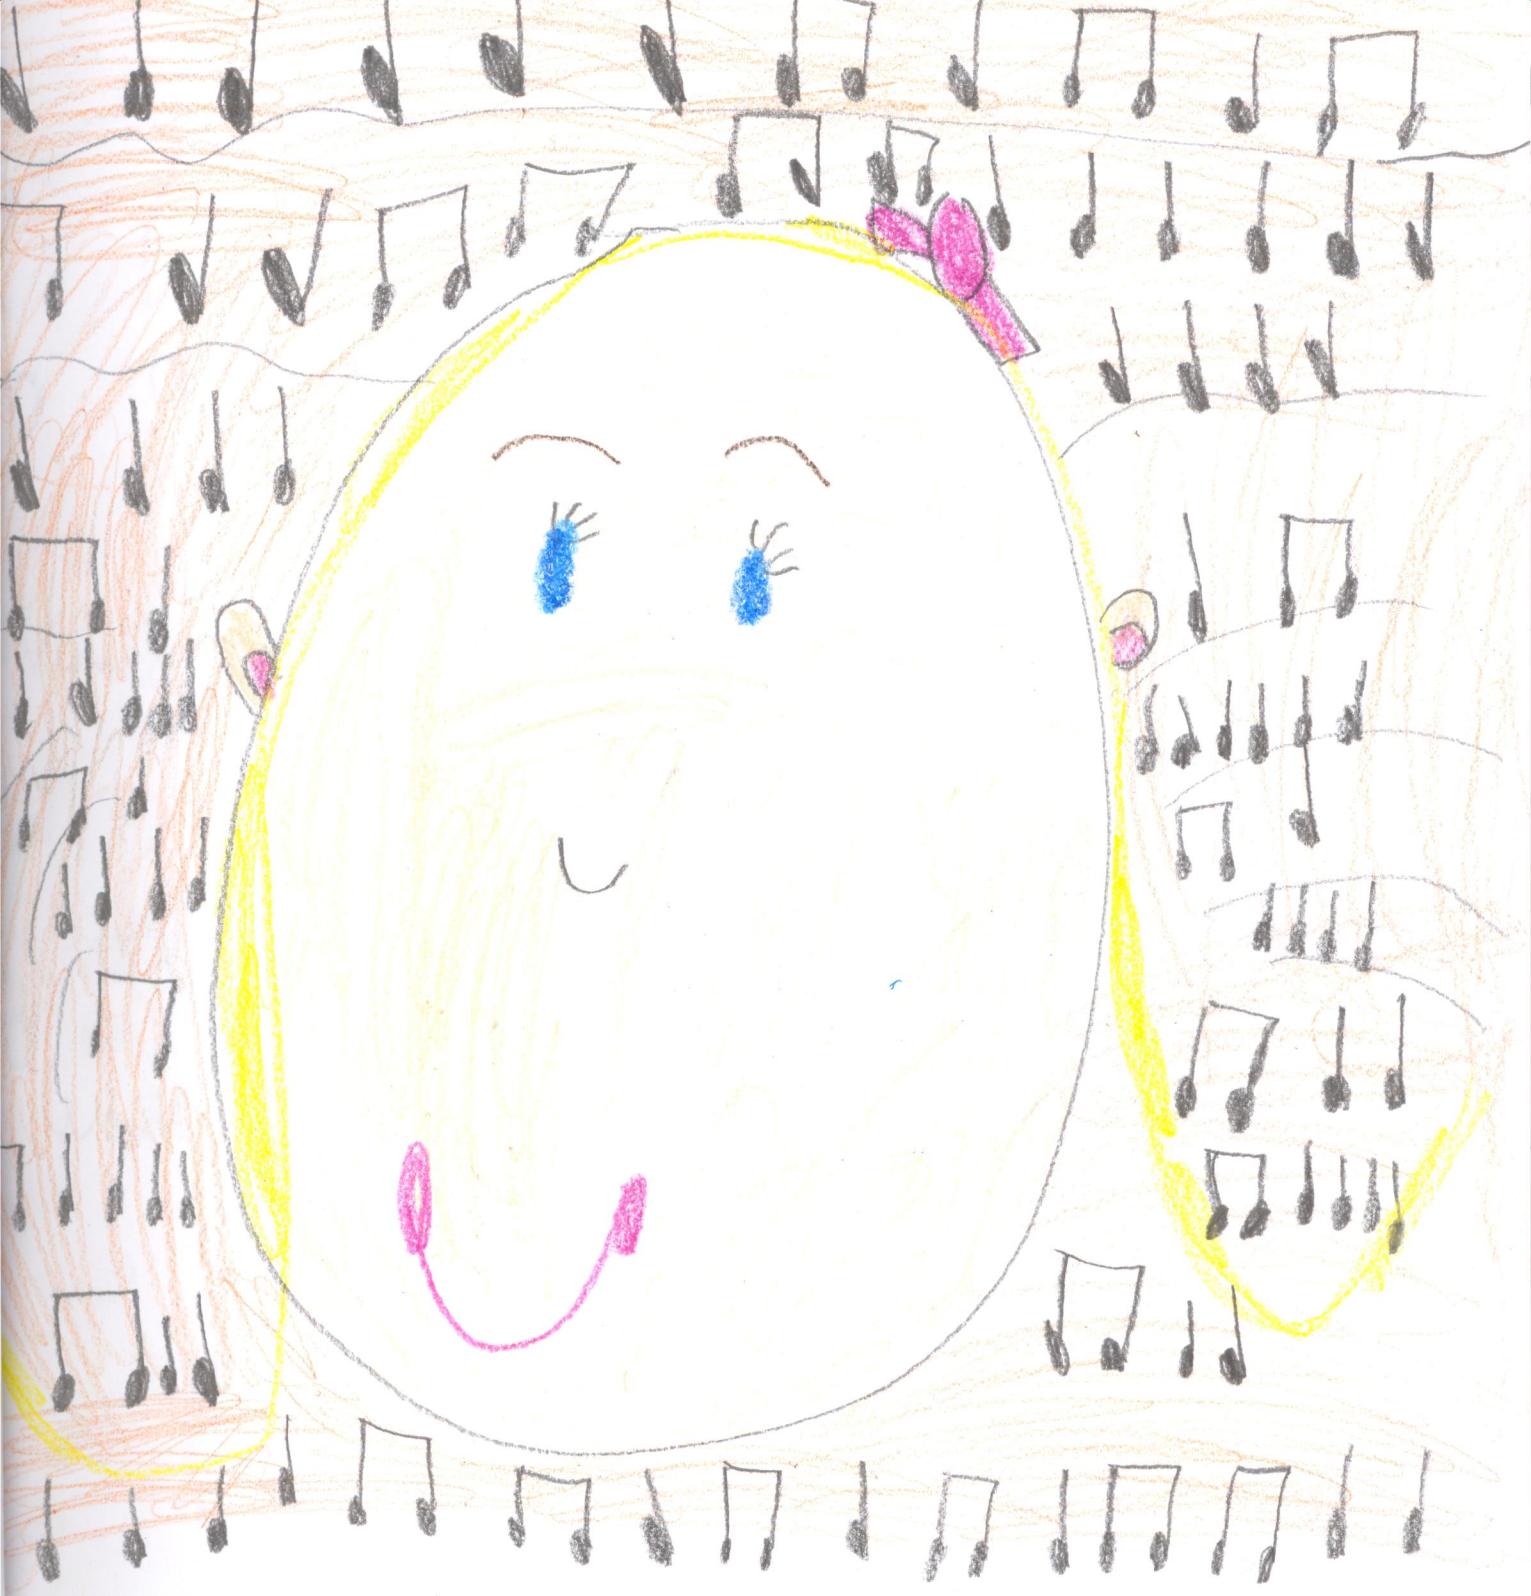
When school started I had a fun teacher, his name was Mr. Glandt. He thought my lunchbox looked pretty.

At lunchtime I sat down and opened my lunchbox. “A salad again?” I said. “I wish my mom and dad would pack me a sandwich!”

When I said that my lunchbox began to shine. “What!” I said. “This is impossible!” I closed my eyes. Then I opened my eyes…

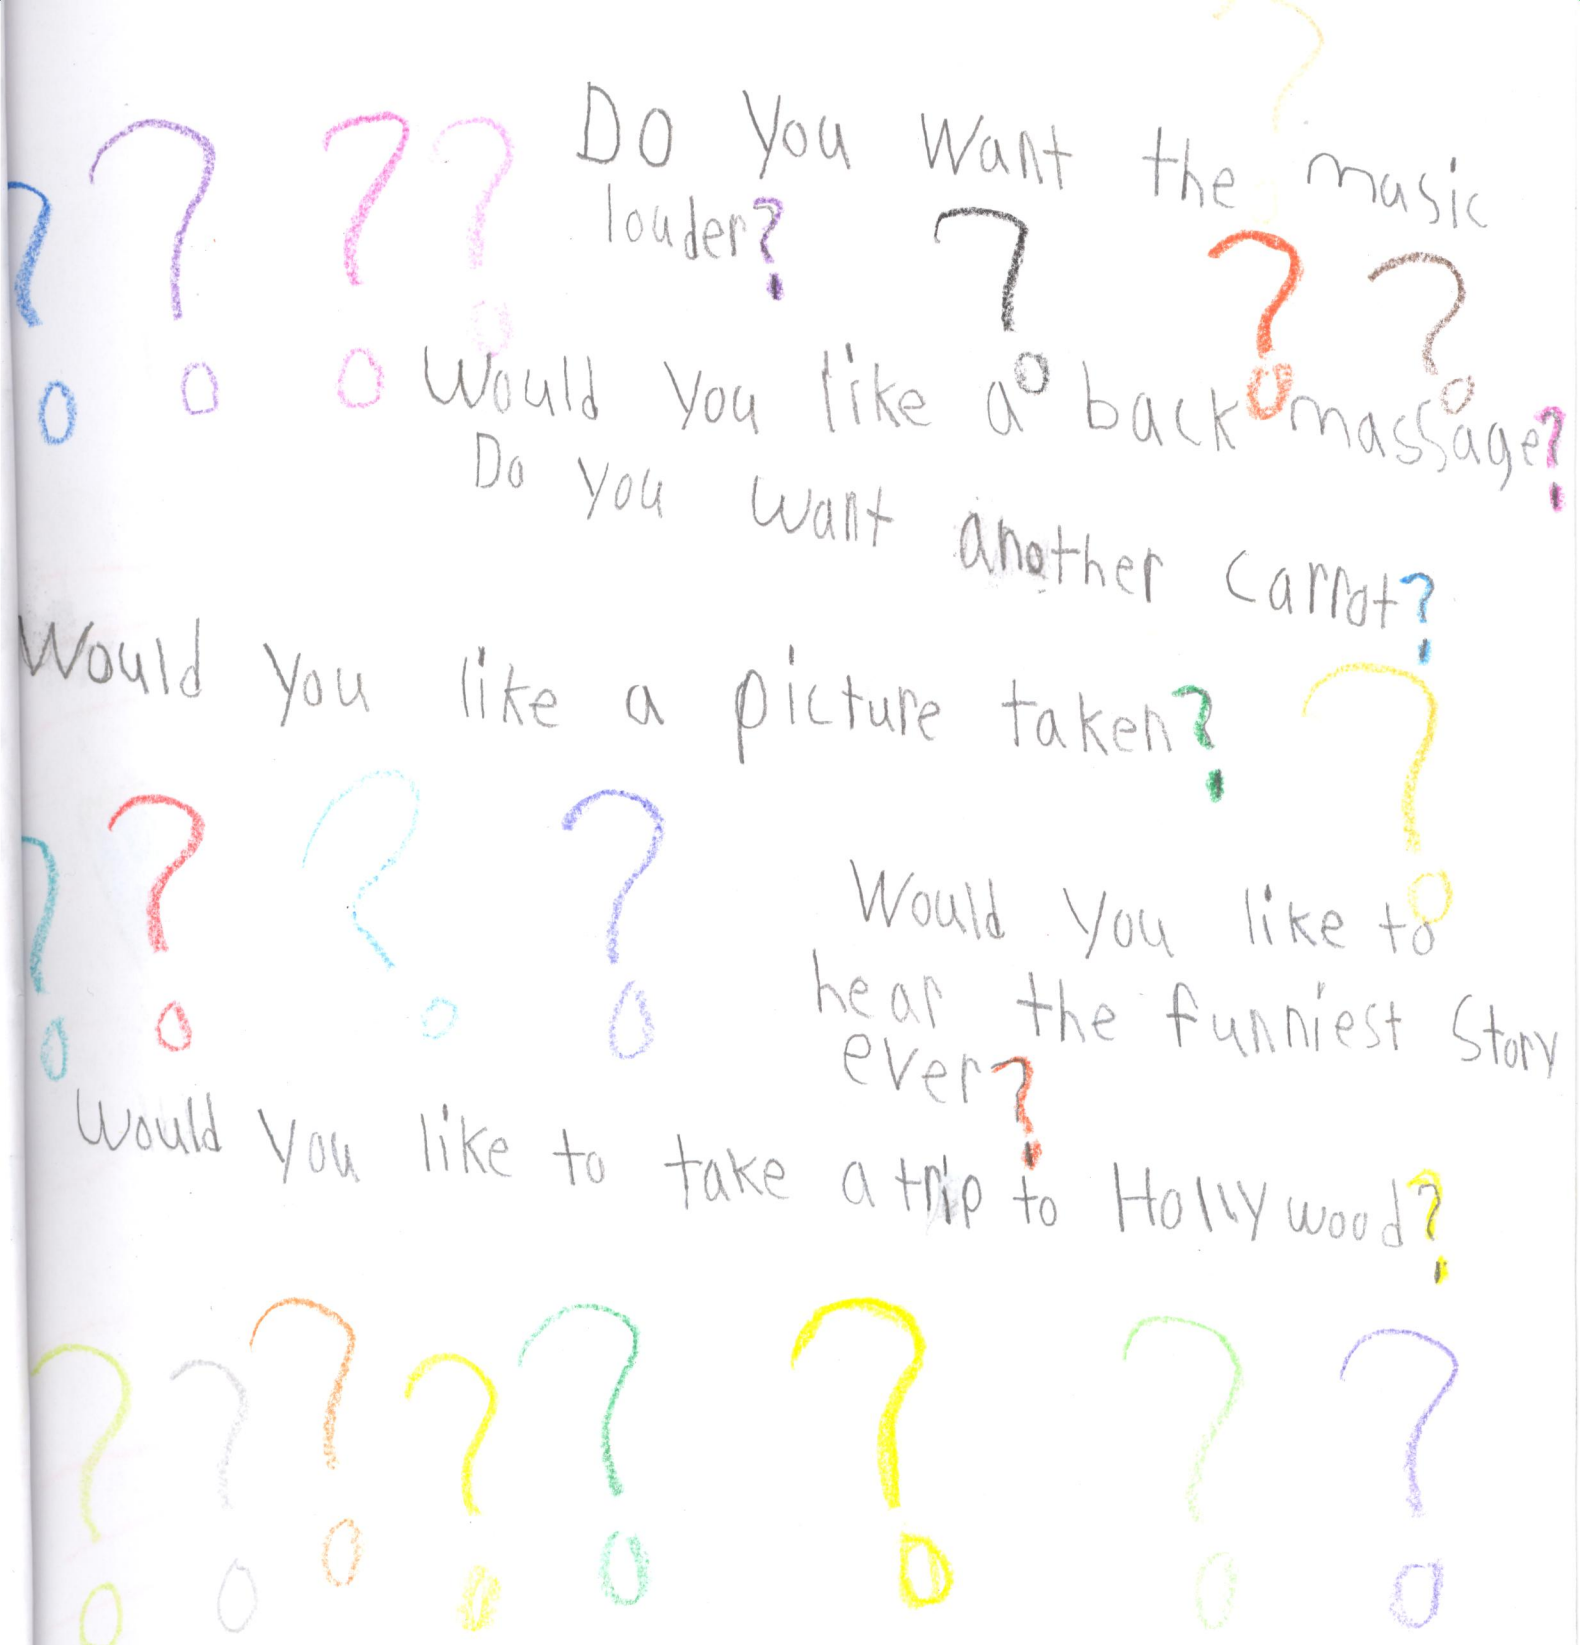
I see my favorite sandwich! A ham and pickle with mustard sandwich! “Wow!” I yelled.

Then I wish for a big brownie, a carrot, chocolate milk and a pear! My lunchbox begins to shine again! “This is good!” I say.



Then my lunch box spoke to me. “Would you like some music?”

“Sure!” I answered and music started to play. It was my favorite song!



Then the lunchbox began asking too many questions!

I got so annoyed that I yelled, “I wish everything was back to normal!”

The lunchbox closed itself and flashed really bright. I opened it and nothing happened. There sat my salad.
